

DIES SUDDENLY THIS MORNING

H. H. Rogers, Real Head Of Standard Oil Trust, Passes Away Without Warning.

CAUSES FLURRY IN WALL STREET

Many Securities Fluctuated When The News Of His Death Became Known—Long Head Of The Business.

With his wonderful executive ability once recognized Mr. Rogers was in demand for many his enterprises. There was the matter of putting the Standard Oil company's products into all the markets of the world, and Mr. Rogers had a hand in the successful accomplishment of this task. Then there were competitors abroad to be exterminated. Later Mr. Rogers came into prominence in connection with his vast copper operations in the Montana and other fields. He also held heavy financial interests in various banks, insurance companies, gas companies and street railways.

Before Thomas W. Lawson began his magazine attacks on him, some six or eight years ago, Mr. Rogers was known in the world of finance but comparatively little beyond the domain of dollars. His actual power, to the world at large, was obscured somewhat by the name of Rockefeller. This suited Rogers, who shunned notoriety. He was satisfied to manipulate and grow enormously rich without attracting personal attention to himself. His wealth has been estimated at close to $100,000,000.

Mr. Rogers began his career as a newsboy in the town of New Bedford, Mass., and was born not far away in the village of Fair Haven, New Bedford at that time was the home port of a great fleet of American whalers. That was before the days of oil wells and in the heyday of the sperm oil trade. Young Rogers, known about among the whalers and oil refiners with his eyes open and an increasing appreciation of the commercial value of oil. Then came the discovery of oil in Pennsylvania, an event that instantly took the life out of the sperm oil industry. Rogers joined the rush to the oil fields and found profitable employment. Here he began to give evidence of the genius for organization and executive ability that later was to make him a multi-millionaire. He was profile of ideas for saving and marketing the product of the wells, and some of the ideas were so good that he was employed by one of the big operators to carry them out. This employment gave him confidence in himself and stimulated him to new endeavors.

Rogers finally proposed a scheme which, at that time, was most daring. This was that the owners of all producing wells should pool their product and market it through one concern, the purpose being by controlling the output, reducing the cost of handling, fixing a uniform cost for certain grades and stopping competition, to increase profits. Some of the larger operators took up the proposition and this was the inception of the Standard Oil Company. Before long Rogers conceived the idea of buying out all the small producers and combining the larger ones into a combination that would control the oil trade of the country. The capital was found and the project was carried out as far as the refusal of certain producers to sell would permit. Then it was that Mr. Rogers, so it is said, invented the plan to freeze out by underselling and discriminating all who refused to come into the combination.

BREW BILL LIKELY TO PASS ASSEMBLY

House Engraves Measure Legalizing Boxing—Will Come Up For Passage This Week.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., May 18.—A strong indication that the assembly will pass a bill legalizing boxing in this state was shown yesterday, when the house voted to engrossment the Brow measure. The bill will come up for passage on the latter part of the week. This bill is attracting wide attention in all parts of the state because of the restrictions thrown around the exhibitions.

Boxing contests by male persons not under eighteen years of age for a period of not over thirty minutes' duration shall be permitted in cities of the first, second and third classes when conducted under the auspices of regularly organized athletic clubs, according to the provisions of the bill. Padded gloves of not less than three ounces each in weight shall be worn and no belt, stake or prize shall be contingent upon the winning of the contest.

The common councils of any of these three classes of cities are empowered to grant licenses in any one month for an exhibition upon a payment of a fee of $25. The contest must be held on the day to be named in the license and not later than sixty days after the issuance of the license. In order to obtain a license the athletic club must be incorporated under the laws of the state and when a license is issued a bond of $1,000 with at least two sureties approved by the common council must be furnished that the club will conduct the contest according to the ordinances of the city in which it is to be held and the laws of the state. An action may be brought upon the bond for a violation of the conditions of the license.

No intoxicating liquors may be sold upon the premises an hour before, during the contest or an hour after. No betting or wagering shall be allowed on the premises where any contests are to be held. Exhibitions cannot be held on Sunday, May 30, Dec. 25, "or on any day appointed by the President of the United States as a day of thanksgiving."

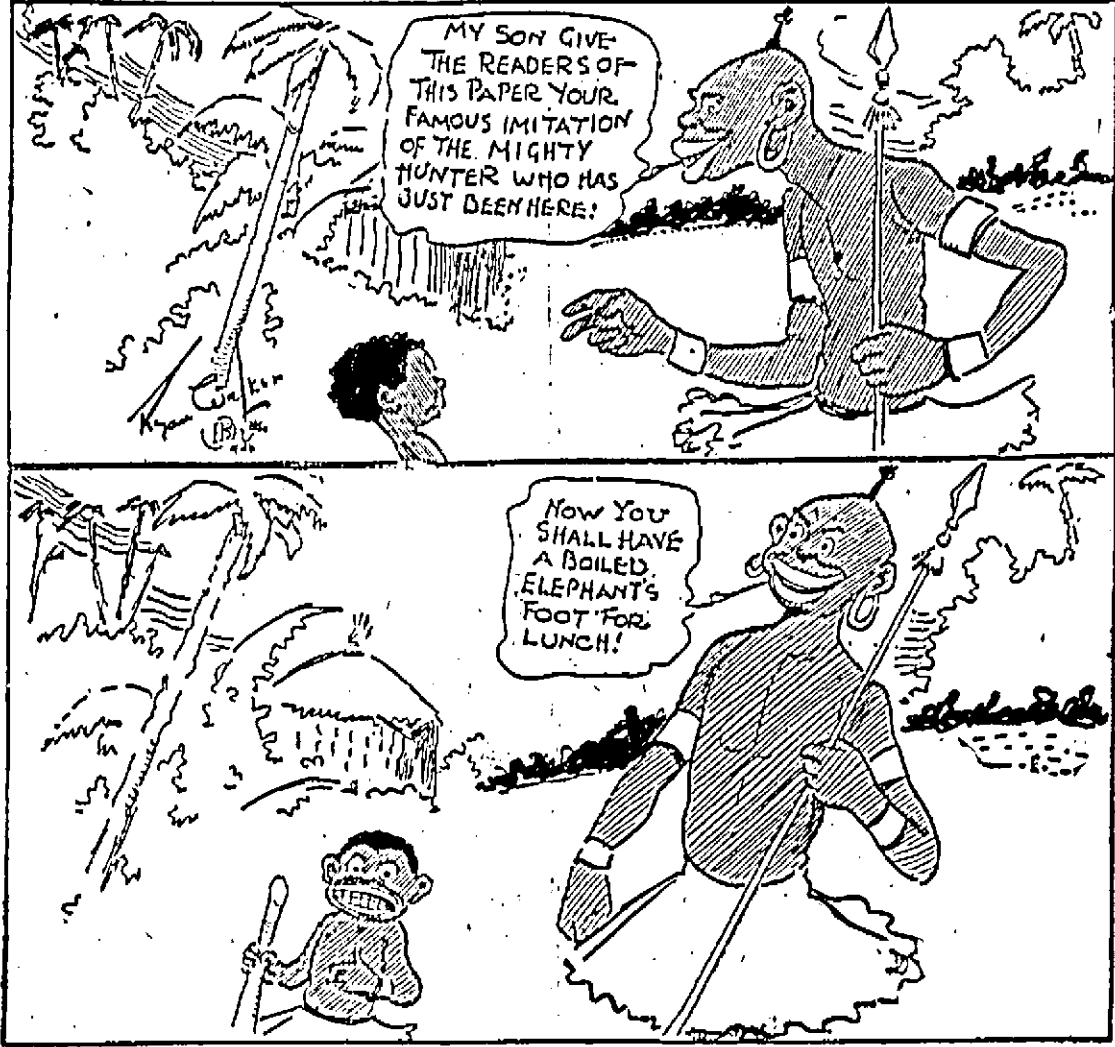

The contestants must furnish to the club a physician's certificate of good health and physical condition. A reputable practicing physician must always be present at the contest who "shall have authority to put a stop to the further continuance of any contest whenever he may deem it advisable because of the physical condition of any contestant." Assemblyman Barry of Oshkosh argues that a boxing contest under such safeguards is less harmful than football and more entertaining than baseball.

COMRADES OF MANY CAMPFIRES GATHER

Veterans of Civil War Are Gathering For State Session in Crawfordsville, Ind., Today.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Crawfordsville, Ind., May 19.—Veterans of the Civil War are here to attend the annual state encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, which began today, and is to continue until Saturday. Despite the fact that the soldiers are so rapidly lessening in numbers, the encampment promises to be one of the most successful ever held in Indiana. There also will be annual meetings of the many affiliated societies, such as the Woman's Relief Corps, and many military organizations.

The city is a mass of flags and bunting in honor of the veterans, and the social events planned for them are many and elaborate. The official welcome, reports and routine business, with the customary campfire to-night, make up the program of the opening day. Tomorrow will be the day of the encampment parade, the biggest feature of the entire program.

Much interest is displayed among the veterans in the contest for officers and also for the honor of entering next year's encampment. The contest for the office of department commander has developed into a spirited three-cornered fight in which the contestants are Capt. M. Lacey of Fountain City, O. A. Seniors of Kokomo, and Col. C. C. Thomson of Lafayette.

WILL CHOOSE COADJUTOR TO ASSIST BISHOP OF VIRGINIA

Episcopallans of Virginia Diocese Will Select Man for Honor Today.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Leesburg, Va., May 19.—Much interest attaches to the three days' meeting of the annual council of the Episcopal Diocese of Virginia which began here today, owing to the fact that the meeting is called upon to elect a bishop coadjutor to assist Bishop Gibson. It is understood that the council will tender the position to Rev. Arthur S. Lloyd, D. D., general secretary of the Domestic and Foreign Missionary society. It is doubtful, however, if Dr. Lloyd will accept, as he has several times declined similar honors.

VETERANS ALLOWED NO SPECIAL RIGHTS

State's Attorney Gilbert Holds Bill Unconstitutional That Gives Special Civil Service Privileges.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., May 19.—In an opinion to the senate committee on military affairs last evening over an amendment offered to bill 688, giving the veterans of the late civil war an advantage in appointment over veterans of the war with Spain, Attorney General Gilbert held that "it appears to me that the classification so made has no reasonable foundation on which to stand and it must be held unconstitutional."

Two bills were referred to the attorney general containing similar provisions which would give preference to veterans of the Spanish American war. The original bill gives the preference in the civil service to veterans of the civil war and veterans of the war with Spain. An amendment offered by Senator Lehr to the senate bill provides the further preference of the civil war veterans over the Spanish war veterans. In a lengthy opinion Mr. Gilbert discusses numerous decisions of supreme courts in the country upon the subject and declares that the preference of one class of war veterans over another would make the measure unconstitutional.

"The same reason which exists for giving a preference to veterans of the civil war also exists as to veterans of the war with Spain, and I am not able to see that there are greater or substantially different," says the attorney general. "A classification must have some reasonable distinction to support it. In other respects as stated, I deem the proposed bills constitutional."

The ring of hammers and the holding of large blocks of polished marble in position has been a daily movement to the members of the legislature who have been watching the completion of the west wing in which the sessions of the legislature are to be held. This work is now practically completed. The main entrance stairways will be finished within the next two weeks and all that will remain to be done will be the placing of glass blocks in the floors. Before the legislature adjourns all of this work will be finished and the force of employees will be doubled to rush to completion the east wing, long since enclosed, so that it may be occupied early in September.

'BIG SMOKE' FIGHTS 'PHILADELPHIA JACK'

Big Negro Heavyweight Battles Tonight With Shifty Fighter in City of Brotherly Love.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Philadelphia, Pa., May 19.—The most promising fight event that the Quaker City has seen in a long time is slated for decision in the arena of the National Athletic club tonight. It will bring together in a six-round bout Jack Johnson, the negro claimant to the heavyweight championship, and Jack O'Brien, the Philadelphia middleweight who has been a prominent figure in the pugilistic world for more than ten years.

Under most conditions the bout would be regarded as a sure thing, for the big negro, who is some 40 pounds heavier than his opponent, with a greater height and reach and with an confidence that comes with success. In a long fight O'Brien would not stand a particle of a show, in the opinion of all competent ring experts, but there are many who believe that the Philadelphia will not only be able to stand for six rounds, but will emerge from the bout with equal honors. He is undoubtedly one of the shiftest fighters who ever entered the ring and probably clever enough to dodge the hammer swings of the big man.

Since the first of the week delegates and visitors to the gathering have been arriving in large number from all parts of the country. The feature of the opening session tomorrow will be the farrowell sermon of the retiring moderator, Rev. Ruxton P. Philbert, D. D., of St. Louis. The new moderator will be chosen at the afternoon session. Although many prominent ministers have been suggested for this honor, Rev. Mark A. Matthews of Seattle and Rev. Dr. William L. McSwain of Pittsburg for some time have been looked upon as the leading candidates. Others whose names are mentioned in connection with the office are Rev. J. M. Barclay of Detroit, Rev. John Huleon Shaw of Chicago and Rev. Robert McKenzle of New York.

WAGE WORDY BATTLE IN ASSEMBLY ROOMS

Debate Get Warm Around Collar But Decide to Give Support to Subpoenaed Members.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, May 19.—By a vote of 47 to 28 the assembly Tuesday night decided to give its moral support to those members of the lower house who have been subpoenaed to appear before the senate investigating committee if they refuse to obey the subpoenas.

Among those who voted for the Cleary resolution excluding the subpoenaed assemblymen from appearing before the investigating committee were Assemblymen Farrell, Leavitt, Ramsey, Reader, Frank Smith and Twiss, all of whom have been served with subpoenas. Otherwise the vote for the resolution was made up of those who voted for the election of Isaac Stephenson while his nomination was a subject of inquiry by a joint committee of the assembly and senate. The roll call follows:

For the resolution: Atwood, Blecher, Bray, Brown, Buslett, Cady, V. H. Chapple, Chinnock, Crowell, Culbertson, Ditch, Donohewski, Dornor, Egan, Erickson, Estabrook, Farrell, George, Gross, Hambrecht, Hummell, Harless, Hoyt, Isaacs, Jones, Kull, Leavitt, Lott, Murmurt, Seltzer, Nelson, Peterson, Phillips, Ramsey, Reader, Reynolds, Frank Smith, Simon Smith, Stack, Stevens, Thomas, Towers, Twiss, Wellensgard, Whitel and Hancock.

Against the resolution: Ballard, Barnett, Berner, Bradford, Brockhausen, Comstock, Haight, Hughes, Hull, Ingram, Johnson, Kemper, Kemp, Keyes, Kinnin, Kneen, Lantz, Leach, McConnell, Mortenson, Ostlund, Rosche, Schwallbach, Stewart, Velehah, Weber, Wells, Zimmermann.

Against the resolution: Ballard, Barnett, Berner, Bradford, Brockhausen, Comstock, Haight, Hughes, Hull, Ingram, Johnson, Kemper, Kemp, Keyes, Kinnin, Kneen, Lantz, Leach, McConnell, Mortenson, Ostlund, Rosche, Schwallbach, Stewart, Velehah, Weber, Wells, Zimmermann.

The debate, which lasted almost two hours, was filled with pointed remarks and at various times two and three members were on the floor hurling questions at one another. Several times the speaker had to rapidly for order. In defense of the resolution Assemblyman Cleary said that members of the assembly were being continually harassed with subpoenas and he thought that it was the duty of the assembly to protect its members from such annoyance.

Mr. Ingalls, who interrupted Mr. Ingram, suggested that the senate committee was abusing its power in subpoenaing assemblymen. Mr. Harless made a loud speech along the same lines. Mr. Leavitt testified vigorously to the same effect.

Mr. Ingram made a ponderous argument against the resolution and offered an amendment striking out portions of the resolution criticizing the senate and charging the committee with playing politics. The resolutions were voted down on roll-call.

The pH of the debate can be summarized in the phraseology of Assemblyman Kahner of Milwaukee, who wanted to know how a man with a clear conscience could be harassed with a subpoena and of Assemblyman Brockhausen, who said that the proceedings would disclose to the people that certain members of the assembly had something to hide.

Dr. Barnett in explaining his vote to postpone the resolution indefinitely, said he might have been induced to vote for it as a matter of courtesy to his fellow members had it not been for the fact that it contained a slur at the senate and bristled with indignation.

"I envy the members their self-restraint in holding in their indignation through all these months of investigation," he said, "without giving evidence of a single although there was a titter in the galleries. When the debate was finished Assemblyman Zimmermann moved that the resolution be indefinitely postponed. The motion was lost by a vote of 28 to 47. Assemblyman Ingram at this time offered his amendment, which also was rejected by practically the same vote. Then the resolution was adopted in its original form.

Tombstone, Ariz., May 19.—Macon, Villa, Real and Rivera, Mexican revolutionaries convicted in violation of the neutrality laws in directing an armed expedition into Mexico, were sentenced today to eighteen months each in prison.

At the close of his talk in opposition to the resolution Assemblyman Zimmermann moved a call of the house but as it failed to receive the seconds of fifteen members, as required under the rules, there was no call.

TAFT TAKES PART IN DEDICATION

IS ONE OF GUESTS OF HONOR AT PETERSBURG.

DELIVERED AN ADDRESS

At the Unveiling of the Monument Put up by Pennsylvania in Honor of Dead Soldiers.

Petersburg, Va., May 19.—With elaborate military display and appropriate exercises, the monument erected by the state of Pennsylvania near Fort Monroe in memory of the Pennsylvania soldiers who fell in the ten months' siege of Petersburg in 1864 was dedicated today. In addition to regular troops from Fort Monroe and a part of the national guard of Virginia, President Taft, Governor Stuart of Pennsylvania and his staff, Governor Swanson of Virginia and his staff and a large number of war veterans participated in the ceremonies.

The day was a notable one in Petersburg. The city was profusely decorated for the occasion and the crowd of visitors was the largest ever entertained here. The program of the day began with the arrival of President and Mrs. Taft from Washington shortly after 9 o'clock this morning. The governors of Virginia and Pennsylvania joined in the official welcome to the nation's chief executive.

A military procession escorted the presidential party from the station to the site of the Pennsylvania monument near Fort Monroe. The procession comprised, in addition to the regular military troops, many veterans of the 29th, 26th, 29th, 25th, 26th, and 21th regiments of the Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry, all of whom fought under General Hartman around Fort Steadman, Dunn House, Fort Monroe and other historic battlefields to the east of Petersburg. The members of A. P. Hill Camp, United Confederate Veterans, also were in line and were among the participants at the unveiling ceremonies. Major A. C. Holckner of the Pennsylvania veterans acted as grand marshal of the procession.

The unveiling ceremonies were of a simple but impressive character. President Taft and Mayor Isaac Brown of Corry, Pa., delivered the principal addresses. Col. H. Q. Goldard of Providence, R. I., presided and the Rev. R. W. Barwell of Petersburg, delivered the invocation. The statue was unveiled by Mrs. Harold A. Gilbert of Williamsport, Pa., who was assisted by several Pennsylvania and Virginia ladies, among whom was the widow of General Mahone. One Stuart turned over the statue to the state of Virginia and Governor Swanson delivered a speech of acceptance.

On the return to Petersburg, following the conclusion of the ceremonies, President Taft traversed historic fields where were fought in 1864 some of the fiercest struggles that occurred between the armies of Lee and Grant. Riding over the historic Jerusalem plank road, the president viewed the crater, bearing mute evidence of the most sensational and appalling battle during the siege of Petersburg.

Shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon the president returned to Petersburg, to remain the guest of the city until his departure for Charlottesville tonight. The principal feature of the entertainment program is the luncheon this evening at Centre Hill Mansion. This historic old home, now the residence of Charles Hall Davis, president of the Petersburg Chamber of Commerce, dates from colonial times, when the white settlers feared the Indians who still roamed the forests. Leading from the house are underground passages to make escape possible in case of attack. It was in this beautiful old mansion that President Lincoln held his last conference with Gen. Grant April 4, 1865.

Invitations to the luncheon in honor of the President and Mrs. Taft were issued to 1,000 guests, among whom were the official representatives of Pennsylvania and Virginia. Unique floral tables were spread on the spacious lawn for the accommodation of the guests, while the President and other official dignitaries were seated on the veranda. The mansion was decorated with flags and lighting of the national colors intertwined with the stars and bars of the confederacy.

While the unveiling of the statue at Fort Monroe was the principal event of the day, there was another part of the program that was of great interest to the Pennsylvania veterans. This was the unveiling of a Pennsylvania memorial tablet at Fort Steadman, which was accompanied by interesting exercises. George W. Aughenbaugh of Fort, Pa., president, and Rev. J. D. Shontz of McKeesport delivered the invocation. Milton A. Embick of Carlisle, Pa., delivered the principal address. At the conclusion of the exercises the tablet was unveiled by Miss Mabel Elizabeth Jones of Boston.

In Charlotte Tomorrow
Charlotte, N. C., May 20.—Everything was in readiness for the reception of President Taft, who arrived here at 10 o'clock this morning. The chief executive and Mrs. Taft were the guests of the city the entire day, and during that time the president delivered two public addresses, the first from the reviewing stand erected in front of the courthouse and the second to the colored people and students of Middle University. A public reception will be held in the evening at the Selwyn hotel and later the visitors are expected to attend the music festival.

The streets, public buildings, hotels, business houses and private residences throughout the city are lavishly decorated in honor of the president's visit. The three days' carnival and celebration in honor of the anniversary of the signing of the Mecklenburg declaration of independence has attracted thousands of visitors from North Carolina and neighboring states, and the outpouring tomorrow on the occasion of the president's visit will be very great.

DELIGHTFUL PARTY GIVEN TO REV. LUGG

Pastor of Footville Church is Tendered a Genuine Donation Party.

As a token of respect and appreciation for the good work he has been doing and in honor of his thirty-ninth birthday, the parishioners of Rev. John Lugg of Footville gave a donation party and supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cory, Tuesday evening, May 18, at which over 125 were present. A delicious supper was served from six o'clock until eight, after which a short program was given. To avoid the difficulty always present at an old-fashioned donation party, the present brought each guest only one, and the sum total, which was a very respectable purse, was presented to the guest of honor. In response to insistent demands on the part of guests, Rev. Lugg composed an original poem during the evening in which he made special mention of those whose birthdays happened to fall in the month of May. At the close of the festivities he read the poem in his inimitable manner and brought forth gales of laughter from his audience, the victims of his rhymed comments joining heartily with those who had escaped.

EXPLORING PARTY DUMPED INTO DRINK

Elliott Flower, the Magazine Writer and Boatman, Had Harrowing Experience Above Janesville Yesterday.

Elliott Flower of Madison, a well known magazine and newspaper writer, and a companion had a harrowing experience on, or rather in the Rock river just above Janesville yesterday. Detailed by the Record Herald to make a trip down the course of the proposed deep-waterway, taking photographs, and capturing notes along the way, they set out from the Capital City in a launch on Monday and arrived safely in Stoughton, yesterday they returned the voyage from Stoughton in a rowboat. A few miles above Janesville their craft ran aground on a submerged barbed-wire fence which some farmer had built in the stream and was overturned. The author and his boatman, as well as all their stores, received an ice cold bath. The party stopped at the Hotel Myers last night and started for Beloit this morning.

DEATH MISSED HIM BY BUT FEW INCHES

Milwaukee Man Saved From Being Cut to Pieces by Train

Appleton, Wis., May 18.—Ignoring the shrill shriek of the whistle of the North-Western road passenger engine that was carrying death toward him at the rate of twenty miles an hour and paying no heed to the cries of two men who saw the imminent disaster, Frank Murphy, who declares his home is in Milwaukee, escaped being ground to pieces by stumbling over a tie and rolling from the railway track two seconds before he would have been struck by the on-rushing locomotive. Murphy found navigation rather difficult, having with him a cargo of drink that not only entangled his legs, but made him oblivious to all danger. The two men who witnessed the near-accident declare they are now convinced that intoxicated men possess Providential protection. And to substantiate this conjecture Murphy himself made the following statement to a police officer, into whose clutches he fell after barely missing disaster on the track: "I'm never so lucky as when I'm drunk."

Africa's "Sneeze-Wood" Tree.
One of the natural curiosities of South Africa is the "sneeze-wood" tree, which is so-called because one cannot cut it with a saw without sneezing, as the fine dust has exactly the effect of snuff. No insect or worm will touch it; it is very bitter to the taste, and when placed in water it stinks.

AN AKRON MAN.

MR. WILLIAM F. STINE.
Mr. William F. Stine, 701 Coburn St., Akron, Ohio, writes:

"I have been troubled for several years with catarrh of the stomach. I have used different patent medicines to no effect whatever, and have doctor considered with family doctor. 'Sometimes his treatment would relieve me for a few weeks, but would eventually have to go back to him, and that had kept up for several years.' 'I was advised to use Peruna, and have taken three bottles. Never felt so good in my life. Am going to continue using it. Wouldn't be without it in the house. I will gladly recommend it to any one afflicted with catarrh of stomach, or stomach trouble of any kind.'"

The above is an oft-repeated story. Troubled for years with chronic catarrh. Tried different remedies and doctors to no avail. Peruna was advised by friends. Instant relief experienced. Great gratitude to Peruna expressed. This, in brief, is a story that is repeated to us a great many times every year.

No one could be in touch with our vast correspondence for one month without being impressed with the sincerity and truthfulness of these kind testimonials.

Peruna promptly produces an appetite, corrects digestion and relieves stomach difficulties that have resisted other treatment.

OPEN STOCK

—Is the way most people buy decorated dinner sets. You can start with a small lot, gradually add to it and finally have your set complete. It is much nicer also in case of breakage, because you can match up and keep your set intact.

Last Saturday we received a shipment of the "Homer-Loughlin" ware, which makes our stock very complete. The body of this ware is clear white semi-porcelain and the decorations are very dainty. Some of the tributes are: roses and gold line, chrysanthemums, white and gold, and small roses and gold wreath effect.

Let us show you how.

Iron Ore Fields in Finland.
Though Finland has been regarded up to the present time as being extremely poor in iron ores, recent research has proved the existence of ore fields in South Finland (Nylund), and above all in the Ladoga lake district, which seem to be worth the expense of mining. For research purposes a company has been formed.

Better Printing

YES, your printer is a good printer—the woods are full of good printers nowadays. But every now and then your complacency is ruffled by the appearance in your mail of a piece of printed matter whose dignified simplicity or artistic treatment, or unique arrangement, makes your good printing look poor and cheap.

Then you realize that there is so much good printing being done that most of it is thrown away without reading, and that there is something to be had which is above and beyond and better than good printing.

We add to every possible printing facility the thought, time, labor and artistic touch which result in Better Printing—better than you are using—better than your competitors are using. And these are features that attract attention and bring results. Get in touch with us about the job you have in mind now.

MORDECAI BROWN IN ACTION

Starting off in the style that made him one of the greatest pitchers in the game for 1907 and 1908, Mordecai Brown, three fingered hurler of the Chicago National pitching staff, again loomed up as the star of the Cubs hurlers. Twice this season has Brown gone down in defeat, but both times at the hands of Pittsburgh. Both were 1 to 0 scores, the first going 12 innings and the second 11.
Three times has Brown been sent in and returned a winner. He beat St.
Louis and Cincinnati, and last week got against his old rivals, the New York Giants to win the first and only game that Chicago took in the series by a score of 4 to 3. In two other games Brown has been sent in to help out a badly going pitcher. Both times the game has gone as a Cub victory.

In 1908 it was Brown who was the mainstay of the Cubs' staff. When it came to a show down, Brown was the man that Chicago relied upon. It was he who was sent in to beat the Giants in that decisive replay at the end of the season, and by his work there landed the game for Chicago.
There are some pitchers who loom head and shoulders above all their rivals. Brown is one of these. Mat-thewson is another. The race for honors in the National between these two was close. Both will be watched much more carefully this season than in previous years, provided their teams are up in the race, which looks to be the probability right now.

Murderer may be found after ten years through discovery of skeleton.
At top Treasurer John Blewins, who was murdered; lower left, Daniel Wilder, accused of the crime by Barnes, and lower right, Frank Barnes, who tells story purporting to be the confession of John Blewins' murder.

New Castle, Pa.—Ten years ago City Treasurer John Blewins was inveterately killed in his office in the city hall. During the ten years passed no effort has been spared to apprehend the murderer, but so completely was his crime covered that up to this time no evidence of sufficient strength to warrant conviction has been found.

There is a prisoner in the Benango county jail at Franklin, Frank Barnes who has been telling tales strangely combining truth and fiction. It is quite evident he knows something of the mysterious death of John Blewins even if his full statement is not correct, and the authorities are using every means within their power to establish the truth or falsity of his statements. Barnes has told so many lies, which have been proven as such,
and he himself such a notorious crook that little confidence would have been placed in any of his statements had not one of the strangest stories of all been proven beyond the peradventure of a doubt. This one story which has been proven true has led many people to believe that his other statements are correct.

Frank Barnes said that in the winter near St. Marys, Elk county, if investigation were made, a skeleton would be found, clad in corduroy trousers, and when such a skeleton was discovered, meeting every detail of Barnes' description, it became generally conceded that his story regarding the murder of John Blewins might be correct after all.

Barnes has been maintaining for years that Daniel Wilder, who is now in the Western penitentiary serving a six-year sentence for robbery, told him that it was he who killed Blew-ins and that his accomplices in the plot were William Farrell and Es-senger Parker. It is asserted further that Barnes told Wilder that he had to kill Parker later, as he had fallen into the habit of drinking and talking too much. The skeleton found in Elk county was declared to be that of Parker.

Barnes had described Parker as a very heavy-bodied man.
Persons who have examined the bones of the skeleton declare them to be unusually large.
Barnes has said that Wilder told him Parker was wearing a pair of corduroy trousers at the time he was killed.

Blewins, who was about 70 years of age when he was killed, had been treasurer for 12 years and in all that time his books had not been audited by outside parties. The council at one time, it is asserted, passed an ordinance providing for an audit of the treasurer's books, but the measure was vetoed by the mayor.
No one had any suspicion that Ble-wins and might be dilatory in returning them. After the death of Blew-ins an audit of the books showed a considerable shortage, but the amount was never determined exactly. It has been estimated at from $25,000 to $30,000.

It is theorized by some that certain persons, fearing that Blewins, when before the auditing committee, would put them in a bad light, caused his death to forever seal his mouth and prevent their exposure. This theory has been held by many for years.

The boldness of the Blewins murder was one of the most remarkable features. It was committed in a room adjoining that of police headquarters in the municipal hall, right in the very center of the city, and at 10 o'clock in the evening, while persons might ordinarily be expected to be coming and going in the building, and when some of the members of the police force ordinarily would be supposed to be on duty at their headquarters or in the immediate vicinity.

That there had been a struggle, which also ordinarily would have attracted attention, was confirmed, too, by the prisoners in the lockup in the basement of the city hall, just under the room occupied by the treasurer.
The prisoners said that they heard the noise of scuffling for several minutes, Blewins, although an aged man, was strong and agile, and it is said that he could have put up a good fight.

Attorney Akens is actively engaged in the investigation of the truth or falsity of Barnes' stories.

"The tale as told by Barnes," said Attorney Akens, "is not true in some of its details. He may be lying, or Wilder may have lied to him. There are circumstances which Barnes insists on as part of the alleged confession of Wilder that are false. But the city council of New Castle felt that the story ought to be investigated, because some of the circumstances were corroborated by facts known to investigation thus far has resulted in the uncovering of facts that Barnes has told. We of course, have obtained some facts that it would not be wise to make public at this time.
It must be borne in mind that Barnes has grievance against Wilder, and that his story may be partly true and partly false. It does not seem probable that a man of Barnes' mental capacity could invent such a story and we will continue our investigation of it."

Attorney Akens said that the authorities know where Farrell was and that they could place their hands on him whenever he was wanted.

Wilder formerly lived in Bradford.
He was sentenced last August to serve six years in the Western penitentiary for robbery. This is said to be the first time that he was ever given a prison sentence. The Venango and Lawrence county authorities have been working together in running down the clues against him, and there are said to be some prospects of the fatal web being completed shortly. They are said to have traced his recent back 20 years, and to have found that counterfeiting also was one of his arts.

WHEN it comes to the matter of underwear buying, a good many folks display more energy in seeking a low price than they do in trying to find something worth while. The Lewis Union Suits are perfect in fit and comfort, and will outwear the "cheap stuff" about "sixteen to one."

The Lewis garments combine moderate price with high quality, and are about the only ones ever produced that cover the underwear situation thoroughly. The wise people make no mistakes in their purchases—they

YOU COULD NOT DISTINGUISH A "STANDARD" HOLLOW CONCRETE BUILDING BLOCK

from Waukesha or Wauwatosa stone, at a distance of 20 ft., unless you were an expert, so closely does the face of these blocks resemble the natural stone, and it is stronger than natural stone. If you were to break a STANDARD BLOCK in two you would find that the gravel will break before the cement that holds the halves of the stone to each side will give.

You will also find that the waterproofing compound used in the face of these blocks makes them "WATERPROOF" and it is the only hollow concrete building block that is so.

The cost is but 1c per running inch. Be sure to ask for the "Standard" block.

Good Teeth Mean Good Health

The most beautiful face may be spoiled by a set of poor teeth; and the most robust, healthy person living will soon become a miserable dyspeptic, if his teeth are allowed to decay and become unable to perform their natural functions. You can't enjoy eating or preserve a good digestion if you are the owner of a bad set of teeth. This one point alone is worth your consideration. My dental work is of the expert class. Cavities are properly filled and teeth thus saved for a nominal cost. I also do the finest bridge and crown work at a reasonable price, and fit artificial teeth, where needed, so snugly and comfortably that they cannot be told from the natural ones.

Mixed the Tunes.
In a Montreal theater the other night the orchestra undertook to play the national anthems with queer results. Part of the musicians were Italians from New York, who perhaps did not realize that they had crossed the frontier. So while the local auxiliaries from the regular theater orchestra played "God Save the King," the visitors struck into "The Star Spangled Banner" and the Americans in the audience promptly came vociferously to their support. The American air won after a sturdy conflict.

SUGAR COMPANY IMPORTS HANDS

SPECIAL TRAIN BRINGS THIRTY GERMAN AND RUSSIAN FAMILIES.

FEW COME TO JANSVILLE

But Will Be Sent to All Points in District From Which Raw Materials of Factory Are Drawn.

At two o'clock this afternoon, a special train bearing about thirty German and Russian families arrived in this city over the North-Western road from Chicago. The passengers were foreign labor brought from Cincinnati to work in the beet fields during the coming summer for the Rock County Sugar company. Besides the men, women, and children, the train, which consisted of one box car, four baggage cars, and three coaches, with a caboose for the crew, carried the household goods and other necessities of life for the passengers.

The laborers were in charge of W. W. Woolf, chief agriculturist of the Rock County Sugar company, who secured them for those farmers having contracts to raise beets who are unable to do it themselves on account of the size of the fields which they will cultivate.

Of the thirty families, but three or four will remain in the vicinity of Janesville, the rest being sent north and west to Stoughton, Edgerton, and Richmond, Wis. Those who arrive here this afternoon were but part of a large number brought by the Rock County Sugar company.

From Chicago about one hundred and fifty families started, but at various stations along the line where help of this kind has been desired, a number of the foreigners have been dropped off. They will immediately take up their residence on the land which they are to cultivate and remain there during the summer and fall, while the beets are raised.

The Rock County Sugar company has secured contracts for over six thousand acres of beets to be delivered at the factory this coming fall. To cultivate these as they should be attended to, requires quite a force and on the larger farms the services of foreign labor is secured. Belgians, Germans and Russians generally being secured on account of having had experience in the work in the old country.

To handle this year's crop, the sugar company will, for the benefit of their raisers, bring in to various parts of the state over six hundred laborers.

For sources of supply, the factory draws from the country from the Mississippi river east to Lake Michigan, from Beaver Dam on the north to Wayne, Ill. on the south. This country is divided into districts, each in charge of an assistant agriculturist. Under Henry Decker, for the district around Janesville, perhaps one hundred of these workers will be employed by farmers.

Besides those who came up on the train, the districts around Kenosha and Racine received two hundred and eight and northern Illinois also received a batch of the workers.

SEWER TRIAL MAY BE ENDED TODAY

City Engineer C. V. Kerch Was on the Stand the Greater Part of the Day.

At three o'clock this afternoon the witnesses for the defense were still offering their evidence in the case of Hauran & Lindquist vs. the City of Janesville. City Engineer C. V. Kerch testified that several sets of the profiles and drawings were necessary to the fifteen odd bidders who were here two or three days before the sealed proposals were opened. Engineer Kerch stated on the stand that it was not customary for city engineering departments to estimate for the contractors how many cubic feet of soil were to be removed, etc. The minutes of the meetings of the street assessment committee were offered in evidence.

Among the parties who testified yesterday afternoon were: Walter Helms, W. W. Hoyer, George Davis, Henry Blunk, and Edward Duert. It is possible that the trial will be finished today.

WILL INCREASE THE FACTORY CAPACITY

Large Addition to Caloric Company's Plant Will Be Made Immediately.

Within the next two weeks a large addition to the present plant of the Caloric Company's plant in the southern portion of the city will be made, increasing the working capacity of the present factory considerably and permitting them to handle the increased amount of business that has come in within the past few weeks.

The present plans of the company are to purchase the three-story building that has been used by S. B. Heddes for a tobacco warehouse for some time past and move it to the factory site and later build a structure the same size, more than doubling the present capacity and size of the entire plant.

The building in view is 12x50 feet and excavation for the basement work will begin as soon as it is determined how soon the building can be brought to the present factory site. It will have to be moved nearly three quarters of a mile and cross both the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul tracks and the tracks of the Rockford Interurban Company. It is owned by Mr. James Piffeld and he stated this morning that the contract for moving the structure would be let today, and it is understood that it will be in place within ten days.

At the present time the Caloric company is working night and day to keep pace with the demands for the fireless cookers and orders come in from all parts of the civilized globe and some places that are only mentioned as semi-civilized. It appears to have met a popular demand and is filling a place that is desired by hunters, fishers, automobilists and others.

While the present building to be moved will care for the present increase in new building, the same size, is to be built to the south of the structure, which will be able to handle the growing increase in business. It is planned to lay a Chicago and North-Western switch-track along a new platform which will allow of goods being loaded and unloaded at the same time.

New City Editor: Frank L. Smith has relinquished his position as city editor of the Janesville Recorder and has been succeeded by L. W. Moffatt, formerly of the Rockford Star.

KLING AFTER A HIGH FOUL

Premier catcher of the Chicago Cubs snapped in action this week, while keeping in playing trim.

If Kling joins the Chicago Cubs after his long holiday this spring, their stock will go up 100 per cent. Kling was the last who handled the mitt to such advantage in 1908, that stolen bases were well nigh an impossibility. He can display his same old form the present season. During the world's championship series in five games but five bases were stolen on the Cubs' catcher and two of these went to speedy Ty Cobb. Neither is Kling a slouch with his bat. He registered a percentage of 250 in the world's series and stood seventeenth for the National league season among all batters who participated in fifteen or more games. His average was .272. But it is not for his sticking that he sticks. It is for his catching that he catches on. Playing the most difficult position on the diamond—the one which requires the greatest versatility of baseball talent—the one which develops the hardest fielding chances—Kling went through the world series with a fielding average of 1.000. No wonder there will be joy in Chicago if Kling signs up.

The manner in which the opposing teams have shown up the champion Cubs in their series does not speak well for the backstopping department of Chicago's pennant chasers. The Pittsburghers ran wild on the bases and Hans Wagner, in particular, had a large time. Just as predicted it is valued that it won't be long before "Chubby" Charlie Murphy gets a buy and agrees to meet the demands of Catcher John Kling within a few days.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Baltimore, Md., May 19.—Delegates from many parts of the country are attending the second National Good Roads congress, which began its sessions today in McJannet hall, John Hopkins university. Hard Shot for Physicians. A visitor in a thinly settled part of England was told by a resident whom he met that no physician lived within ten miles of him. "What!" exclaimed the visitor. "Ten miles from a doctor?" "Yes, sir, ten miles," responded the farmer. "Thank heaven, we all in this parish mostly die of natural death."

HAND VACUUM CLEANER

Movement of Handles Causes Suction to Draw Up the Dirt.

House cleaning is robbed of its tedium by the new vacuum cleaner that has been put on the market. This is not one of the wagon outfits which have sprung into universal demand for the cleaning of large buildings, nor is it one of the electrical machines, but a simple hand apparatus which can be used about the house as readily as a carpet sweeper, and is infinitely more effective. The hand device bears a slight resemblance to a small plow. It consists of a broad mouth-piece leading up to a body portion in which is a suction apparatus. The two handles are movable and the operator presses them in or out, as though working a bellows. This acts in action the suction machinery and creates a vacuum into which the dirt from carpets or floors is swiftly sucked. It can be readily seen that this is a big improvement over the old method of house cleaning, being quicker, doing the work more thoroughly and having the additional merit of not raising a dust to undo the cleaning.

LIFE IMPRISONMENT FOR ANY KIDNAPER

State Legislature Enacts Into Law This Provision—Up to Davidson to Sign.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., May 19.—The assembly today concurred in the senate bill fixing the penalty for kidnapping at life imprisonment and the bill now goes to the governor. The assembly advanced, by a vote of 51 to 39, the Berner bill for an eight-hour day on all public work.

Peter J. Koehler, manager of the senatorial candidate, Cook, testified in the senatorial election probe today that when he asked Governor Davidson to support W. D. Connor for reelection as the republican state chairman the governor insisted: "Connor, no. Edmonds is the man. If we elect Edmonds, Stephenson will pay the whole campaign bill. Connor ran the campaign two years ago and made me pay $8,000 to get elected." Edmonds was elected.

The alarm that has been felt for the state university on account of hostile bills, particularly the appropriation measure, was dispelled today when an informal canvass of the senate showed a substantial majority against all the anti-university bills.

Special Sale of UNDERMUSLINS

Three Days of Remarkably Attractive Prices

Thursday, Friday and Saturday
SALE IN OUR NORTH STORE

It is the policy of this store to provide generous assortments and broad varieties. We buy more goods than we expect to dispose of in the regular manner.

This spring we hold fast to this policy. In fact we bought a little too generously, and so we find we have a much larger quantity of muslin underwear on hand than we should be carrying at this time of the year.

This year our muslin underwear sale is therefore more attractive than ever to the general public, for greater quantities of goods are involved. We have made the prices more attractive than ever before in order that there will be no question about the surplus stock hurrying away.

It will be a great money-saving sale that women and misses will do well to take advantage of. Spring business has been good and we willingly and cheerfully cut prices until profits are eliminated and in many cases part of the cost has been swept away.

Included are some garments that are mussed, others slightly soiled from handling and being put in the window, which will be marked at specially low prices.

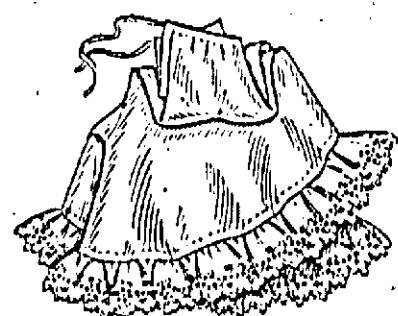

The variety is very large. The greater proportion of the garments are of the celebrated STANDARD MAKE, which means perfection in manufacture. You could not make them better in your own home.

Latest styles, designs copied from imported garments, man tailored, hand finished, fitting qualities so hard to get in other brands. The materials are fine muslins, nainsooks and longcloth.

SKIRTS

The skirts are wide and full, having deep flounces. Some of fine sheer embroidery, some tucked with German Val, or round thread insertion with lace edging, others of clumsy lace and insertion.

THE INCOME TAX WAR IS NOW ON

SENATORS ARRANGE COMBINATION TO PROPOSE A NEW PROPOSAL.

SEE CHANGE OF A VICTORY

Expect to Have 42 Votes for Amendment Which Would Give $35,000,000 Revenue—La Follette, Dilliver and Cummins in List.

Washington, May 10.—The fight for an income tax amendment to the tariff bill has by no means ended. A new combination of senators has been formed which today began missionary work among others for support of a proposal which is to be framed in a few days.

Those who believe in an income tax as a revenue producer declare victory awaits a final test of strength. They declare 31 Democrats will unanimously vote for the scheme.

Eleven Republicans Pledged. Senator Davis will not return for this session and 31 represents the minority. Eleven Republicans are pledged to vote for an income tax. These are Senators Borah, Brown, Lister, Bourne, Burket, Crawford, Cummins, Dixon, Dilliver, Gamble, and La Follette. Eight other Republicans lean toward an income tax and will be food for missionary work. They are: Senators Clapp, Curtis, Gage, Johnson, Jones, of Washington, McCumber, Nelson and Pyles.

The combination was arranged at a conference between Senators Cummins, Borah and Bailey, who will frame the amendment as a substitute for all other propositions of a similar character. The Bailey amendment will be taken as the basis for building up the income tax feature. The chief points in it are:

The raising of about $35,000,000 annual revenue from the income tax for the imposition of the uniform tax of two per cent. on the excess above $5,000 on all incomes.

On Net Income Only. For the imposition of this tax on individuals and corporations alike; the burden to fall upon net income only, and only on the excess above $5,000 per annum.

For the collection of tax from corporations direct with provision for remitting to stockholders, in their individual capacity, such share of their income tax as comes from corporations that have already paid the tax.

Senator Aldrich and his associates have carefully counted noses and do not concede the progressive Republicans more than 12 votes. This, with 31 Democrats, would be three short of a sufficient number to win.

The condition of Republicans and Democrats has not improved the chances of income tax legislation as a part of the pending tariff bill. The entire Democratic strength has always been conceded for such a proposition. The progressives fluctuate. They count at varying times all the way from 12 to 21 votes, but 15 must be actually produced when the test comes.

Increase Razor Duty. After ending a three-days' fight on the razor schedule by voting to sustain the finance committee's increase, the senate took a running jump at the Aldrich bill and finished up 13 pages. This is the biggest day's work the senators have yet completed, and they are now on page 68 of the second reading of the 500-page bill.

On the basis of "revillon downward" the day's work seems to have come out fairly even. The senate sustained the committee in increased rates on razors, spikes, screws, umbrellas, frames, antimony and zinc blocks and sheets. The committee cut the rates on knitting and sewing-machine needles, bronze powder, tinsel wire, and zinc ore.

BEGGAR WIFE ASKS DIVORCE.

Former Wisconsin Assemblyman Sued by Wife, Who Charges Cruelty.

Milwaukee, May 10.—Mrs. Catherine Cain, who as Catherine Livingston, before her marriage to Elmer E. Cain of Wauwatosa, member of the assembly in 1906 and 1908, and former assessor of Wauwatosa, was arrested in Chicago for begging to support him, has brought suit for divorce, charging cruelty and non-support.

Fearing her husband would leave the state and place himself beyond the jurisdiction of the courts, she had him arrested. He has been released on $200 bail.

Mrs. Cain charges that her husband began to abuse and neglect her three weeks after their return to his parents' home in Wauwatosa, following their marriage, which occurred immediately after her arrest in Chicago. She claims that he hugged and kissed a school-teacher boarding with them in her presence, at a time when she was physically unable to remonstrate.

Kills Bride of Three Days. Richmond, Ore., May 10.—J. H. Worley, formerly of St. Louis, killed his bride of three days and himself after setting fire to their house. He left a letter saying the woman, who was Ruth Leroy of Lincoln, Neb., had tried to rob him, robbed him and intended to live.

HORNED TOADS ON HAT PINS.

Creepy Ornaments for Women Made in Illinois Factory.

Waukegan, Ill., May 10.—Two thousand horned toads, direct from Texas, are going through metallizing process at a local plant, to be made into ornamental pins for women's hats. To make each pin a fresh toad is needed. It is electroformed before being put into the process. The company plans to put out 50,000 of these toad pins.

The toads were shipped by a man who is gathering them for the company, and the idea of using them for making hat pins is one which it is believed will appeal to the women who like fads.

Train Robbers Get Only $200.

Augusta, Ga., May 10.—Two robbers boarded a Southern railway passenger train at Waynesville, S. C., got the drop on Thomas L. Hutton, express messenger, knocked him senseless with a piece of rubber hose and afterwards ransacked the car, throwing the messenger in an empty chest. B. C. Burroughs, agent of the Southern Express Company at Augusta, said the records showed the robbers obtained only $200.

Quake at Heidelberg.

Heidelberg, May 10.—An earthquake was recorded here on the local instrument at 9:28 o'clock today. The shocks were of unusual violence, and apparently at a distance of 5,500 miles. Minor shocks continued until nearly 11 o'clock.

BREAD FAMINE IN NEW YORK.

Closing of Shops Because of Flour Prices May Cause Suffering. New York, May 10.—A bread famine among the 700,000 residents of the East side was inaugurated when more than 400 bakeries closed down. The trouble started with the increase in the price of wheat recently, and was augmented by the coincident strike of the bakery employees on the East side.

The police detailed an unusually large number of men on duty in that section during the hours when housewives usually visit the bakeries. There was a fear that the riotous scenes of a few years ago, when the price of meat was raised, might be repeated.

Bakers who are not affected by the action of the meeting will not be able to supply one-tenth of the demand for bread in the crowded East side.

Robert Jolly Declared Insane. Indianapolis, Ind., May 10.—Robert Jolly, who on June 13, 1907, killed his little daughter with a knife at their home in this city, was declared insane by a jury at Danville, Ind., and will be sent to the hospital for the criminal insane at Michigan City.

The Hungriest Boy on Earth is the growing boy at ten. You can't build him out of books or sermons. His growing body demands more building material than the adult. Nature is making for him a structure of brain, bone and muscular tissue. She must build it out of the food he eats and the air he breathes. The best food for the growing boy or girl is because it contains all the material for making bone, brain and muscle. The crispness of the shreds promotes mastication, which means sound teeth. The food to study on, to play on—for children and grown-ups. Your Grocer sells it.

Shredded Wheat is made of the choicest selected white wheat, cleaned, steam-cooked and baked. Try it for breakfast to-morrow with milk or cream. The Biscuit is also delicious for any meal in combination with fresh or preserved fruits.

Down at Hot Springs, Ark., the subject have all sorts of complaints, but it is a subject of remark that the great majority of them have some trouble with stomach and bowels. This may be partly attributed to the heavy medicines.

Naturally, under the conditions, the question of food is very prominent. A young man states that he had suffered for nine years from stomach and bowel trouble, had two operations which did not cure, and was at last threatened with appendicitis.

He went to Hot Springs for rheumatism and his stomach trouble got worse. One day at breakfast the waiter, knowing his condition, suggested he try Grape-Nuts and cream, which he did, and found the food agreed with him perfectly.

After the second day he began to sleep peacefully at night, different than he had for years. The perfect digestion of the food quieted his nervous system and made sleep possible.

He says: "The next morning I was astonished to find my condition of constipation had disappeared. I could not believe it true after suffering for so many years; then I took more interest in the food, read the little book, 'The Road to Wellville,' and started following the simple directions.

"I have not with such results that in the last five weeks I have gained eight pounds in spite of hot baths which take away the flesh from anyone.

"A friend of mine has been entirely cured of a bad case of indigestion and stomach trouble by using Grape-Nuts Food and cream, alone for breakfast.

"There is one thing in particular—I have noticed a great change in my mental condition. Formerly I could hardly remember anything, and now the mind seems unusually acute and retentive. I can memorize practically anything I desire."

The other four from the Wisconsin Carriage company, the Parker Pen company, the Y. M. C. A. and the Gazette are still unknown quantities, but the playing qualities of the various members of each team are being discussed and their chances for victory are based on that.

The battles are the ones particularly favored in all this gossip. The ability of the pitchers to deliver the ball where wanted, their speed, curves and lasting qualities are reviewed. Remarks are also passed on the ability of the catchers to "hold" such-and-such a pitcher, the head work they do and their abilities with the stick are also brought up. Included in this highly interesting talk are the basemen, short-stops and fielders.

The Y. M. C. A. team have had practice and the outlook is for a fast team from the association. Men from the Wisconsin Carriage company, Parker Pen company and the Gazette are also preparing for the first regular games to be played next Saturday.

At half past two o'clock the Y. M.

C. A. nine will cross bats with the Parker Pen company nine at Y. M. C. A. park, the Gazette meets the Janesville Machine company players at Dunn's pasture and the Wisconsin Carriage company will be matched against the "Spinners" from the Lewis Knitting company at the fair grounds.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

To be extremely careful about contagion is desirable.

To be insane on the subject of germs is no more commendable than to be insane on any other subject.

The germ theory is undoubtedly a wonderful discovery and care in regard to isolation has undoubtedly much decreased the contagion death rate.

But with the wave of knowledge about germs and bacilli has come a wave of unreasoning terror almost as bad as the witch craze.

They say there is no insanity germ, but there certainly is a germ insanity.

I know a woman who might have been in comfortable circumstances all her life were it not for the almost insane fear of smallpox that prevails in the town where she lives. As it is she is not very far away from the poorhouse.

Her husband left her a good three-apartment house, on the rent of which she lived quite comfortably until one of the tenants was stricken with smallpox.

The sick man was taken at once to the hospital and the whole house fumigated beyond the possibility of danger. But despite this all three families at once moved and it was years before she was able to fill the house again and then only with tenants of a poorer class who paid much lower rent.

In the meantime, deprived of her only income, she had run heavily into debt, mortgaged the house and gotten into financial difficulties from which she has never been able to extricate herself.

An example of unreasoning laws on this subject as absurd as the unreasoning attitude of the people and probably its outcome, came to me the other day.

A friend of mine was in the midst of moving from one town to another when her daughter was taken ill with German measles.

Practically all the furniture had gone to the new house when the mother made the discovery that she could not hire a carriage to take her sick girl across. Neither town would allow her to hire a carriage within its limits in which to take the girl, although she would have gladly paid for the transportation, and yet neither town had an ambulance in which she could be taken.

My friend was finally reduced to staying with the girl in a single room, with a piano, a bed and an oil-stove for furniture, until she was well enough to walk across.

The best way to avoid disease is to keep in good condition, take ordinary precautions and think as little about it as possible.

The best way to catch a disease is to fear it extravagantly.

The public excitement on the germ question makes me think of the story of the devil and his raid on the human race.

"I am coming with a pestilence and 300,000 men," he said.

When the Angel Gabriel took the death roll, he said to Satan: "You said you were going to kill 10,000, but 15,000 have died."

"I killed only the 10,000," said Satan. "The 5,000 died of fear."

NATURE'S REMEDIES FOR DISEASE.

Nature provides more effective remedies in the roots and herbs of the field than were ever produced from drugs.

Thirty years ago, Lydia E. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., discovered and gave to the women of the world a remedy made from roots and herbs, which has proved more efficacious in curing women's diseases than any other medicine the world has ever known, and today Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is looked upon everywhere as the standard remedy for women's ills.

The BLACK BAG

By Louis Joseph Vance

Copyright, 1903, by the Bobbs-Merrill Co.

fifteen minutes later the waiter departed rejoicing, his order complete. To distract a conscience whispering of extravagance Kirkwood lighted a cigarette.

The room was gradually filling with later arrivals. It was the most favored restaurant in London, and despite the radiant costumes of the women its atmosphere remained sedate and restful.

A cab clattered down the side street on which the window opened. At a nearby table a woman laughed, quietly happy. Kirkwood glanced forward, smiling, flattered by the adoration of her eyes. They were lovers alone in the wilderness of the crowded restaurant. They seemed very happy.

Kirkwood was conscious of a strange pang of emotion. It took him some time to comprehend that it was envy.

He was alone and lonely. For the first time he realized that no woman had ever looked upon him as the woman at the adjoining table looked upon her lover. He had found time to worship but one mistress—his art.

And he was renouncing her.

He was painfully conscious of what he had missed, had lost or had not found—the love of woman.

The sensation was curious, new, unique in his experience.

His cigarette burned down to his fingers as he sat pondering. Abstractedly he ground his fire out in an ash tray.

The waiter set before him a silver tureen, covered.

He sat up and began to consume his soup, scarce doing it justice. His dream troubled him—his dream of the love of woman.

From a little distance his waiter regarded him with an air of disappointment. In the course of an hour and a half he awoke to discover the attendant in the act of pouring very hot and black coffee from a bright silver pot into a demitasse of fragile porcelain.

Kirkwood slipped a single lump of sugar into the cup, gave over his clear case to be filled, then leaned back, deliberately lighting a long and slender cigarette as a preliminary to a last lingering appreciation of the scene of which he was a part.

He relieved it through narrowed eyelids lazily, yet with some slight surprise, seeming to see it with new vision, with eyes from which scales of ignorance had dropped.

This long and brilliant dining hall, with its quiet perfection of proportion and appointment, had always gratified his love of the beautiful. Tonight it pleased him to an unusual degree. Yet it was the same as ever. Its walls, tinted a deep rose, with their hangings of dull cloth of gold; its lights shimmering in clusters and discreetly shaded; its subdued shimmer of plate and glass; its soberly festive assemblage of elegantly dressed men and women splendidly groomed; its decorously muted murmur of voices penetrated and interwoven by the strains of a hidden string orchestra, caressed his senses as always, yet with a difference.

Tonight he saw it a room populous with lovers, lovers intensely paired, man unto woman attentive, woman of man respectful.

He had never understood this before. This much he had missed in life.

It seemed hard to realize that one must forego it all forever.

Presently he found himself acutely self-conscious. The sensation puzzled him, and without appearing to do so he traced it from effect to cause and found the cause in a woman—a girl, rather—seated at a table the third removed from him, near the further wall of the room.

Too considerate and too unbarren to return her scrutiny openly, look for look, he yet felt sure that, however temporarily, he was becoming the object of her intense interest.

Idly employed with his glass, he slipped his coffee. In time aware that she had turned her attention elsewhere, he looked up.

At first he was conscious of an effect of disappointment. She was nobody that he knew, even by reputation.

tion. She was simply a young girl, barely out of her teens—if as old as that phrase would signify. He wondered what she had found in him to make her think him worth so long a study and looked again, more keenly curious.

With this second glance appreciation stirred the artistic side of his nature, that was already grown impatient of his fretted mood. The slender and girlish figure, poised with such absolute lack of intrusion against a screen of rose and gilt, moved him to critical admiration. The tinted glow of shaded candles caught glistening on the spun gold of her fair hair enhanced the fine puller of her young shoulders.

In the sheer youth of her (he realized) more than in night else lay her chiefest charm. She could be little more than a child, indeed, if he were to judge her by the purity of her shadowed eyes and the absence of emotion in her calm and direct look which presently also turned upon him who sat wondering at the level, pencilled darkness of her brows.

At length, aware that she had surprised his interest, Kirkwood glanced aside coolly deliberate lest she should detect in his attitude anything more than impersonal approval.

A slow color burned his cheeks. In his temples there rose a curious pulsing.

After awhile she drew his gaze again imperiously, herself all unaware of the havoc she was wreaking on his temperament.

"Eighteen," he hazarded—"eighteen or possibly nineteen dining at the Pleas in a ravishing dinner gown and unhappy? Oh, hardly—not she!"

"Yet the impression haunted him, and ere long he was fain to seek confirmation or denial of it in the manner of her escort."

The latter sat, with back to Kirkwood, cutting a figure as negative as his sang evening clothes. One could surmise little from a fleshy thick neck, a round-glassed bald spot, a fringe of grizzled hair and two bright red ears.

Calendard!

Howbeit the fellow did suggest Kirkwood's caller of the afternoon. The young man could not have said precisely how, for he was unfamiliar with the aspect of that gentleman's back. None the less, the suggestion persisted.

By now a few of the guests, theater-bound for the most part, were leaving. Here and there a table stood vacant that had been filled, cloth tumbled, chairs disarranged, in another moment to be transformed into its pristine brilliance under the deft attentions of the waiters.

Down an aisle, past the table at which the girl was sitting, came two, walking toward the lobby. The man, a slight and meager young person, in the lead. Their party had attracted Kirkwood's notice as they entered—why, he did not remember, but it was in his mind that then they had been three. Instinctively he looked at some distance from the girl and hidden from her by an angle in the wall. It appeared that the third member had chosen to dally a few moments over his tobacco and a liqueur brandy.

Kirkwood could see him plainly lounging in his chair and fumbling the stem of a glass, a heavy man of somber habit, his black and sullen brows lowering and thoughtful above a face boldly handsome.

Therewith of the trio was worthy of closer attention. Some pieces in the wake of her helmsman equivoled, trailing the skirts of a gown magnificent beyond dispute, half concealed though it was by the opera cloak whose soft folds draped her shoulders. Slowly, carrying her head high, she approached, insolent eyes reviewing the room from beneath their heavy lids, a metallic and mature type of dark beauty supremely self-confident and well-poised.

Men turned involuntarily to look after her, not altogether in undiluted admiration.

In the net of passing behind the putative Calendard she paused momentarily, bending as if to gather up her train. Presumably the action disturbed her balance. She swayed a little and in the effort to recover rested the tips of her gloved fingers upon the edge of the table. Simultaneously (Kirkwood could have sworn) a single word left her lips, a word evidently plucked for the ear of the hypothetical Calendard alone. Then she swept on, imperturbable, assured.

To the perplexed observer it was indubitably evident that some commotion had passed from the woman to the man. Kirkwood saw the fat shoulders of the girl's companion stiffen suddenly as the woman's hand rested at his elbow. As she moved away a little rippling shiver was plainly visible in the muscles of his back beneath his coat, mute token of relaxing tension. An instant later one plump and mottled hand was carefully placed where the woman's had been and was at once removed with fingers closed.

For the girl, watching her face covertly, Kirkwood turned for a clow to the incident. He made no doubt that she had observed the passage. Proof of that one found in her sudden startling pallor (of indignation?) and in her eyes, brimful with some inscrutable emotion, though quickly veiled by lowered lashes. Slowly enough she regained color and composure, while her vis-a-vis sat motionless, head inclined, as if in thought.

Abruptly the man turned in his chair to summon a waiter and exposed his profile. Kirkwood was in no wise amazed to recognize Calendard—a badly frightened Calendard now, however, and hardly to be identified with the sleek, glib fellow who had interviewed Kirkwood in the afternoon. His slabs by cheeks were ashen and trembling, and upon the back of his chair the fat white fingers were drumming incessantly an inaudible tattoo of shattered nerves.

"Seared silly!" commented Kirkwood. "Why?"

Having spoken to his waiter, Calendard for some seconds raked the room with quick glances, as if seeking an acquaintance. Presumably disappointed, he swung back to face the girl, bonding forward to reach her ears with accents low pitched and confidential. She on her part fell at once attentive, grave and responsive. Perhaps a dozen sentences passed between them. At the outset her brows contracted, and she shook her head in gentle dissent, whereupon Calendard's manner became more imperative.

Gradually, unwillingly, she seemed to yield consent. Once she caught her breath sharply and, infected by her companion's agitation, sat back, color fading again in the round young cheeks.

Kirkwood's waiter put in an impetuous appearance with the bill. The young man paid it. When he looked up again Calendard had swung squarely about in his chair. His eye encountered Kirkwood's. He nodded pleasantly. "Temporarily confused," Kirkwood returned the nod.

In a twinkling he had repented. Calendard, had left his chair and was wending his way through the tables toward Kirkwood's. Reaching it, he paused, offering the hand of genial fellowship. Kirkwood accepted it half heartedly (what else was he to do), remarking at the same time that Calendard had recovered much of his composure. There was now a normal coloring in the heavily jeweled countenance, with less glint of fear in the quick, dark eyes, and Calendard's hand, even if moist and cold, no longer trembled. Furthermore, it was immediately demonstrated that his impudence had not deserted him.

"Why, Kirkwood, my dear fellow!" he crowed, not so loudly as to attract attention, but in a tone assumed to divert suspicion, should he be overheard. "This is great luck, you know, to find you here."

"Is it?" returned Kirkwood coolly. He disengaged his fingers.

The plump figure was contorted in a furtive grimace of deprecation. Without waiting for permission Calendard dropped into the vacant chair.

"My dear sir," he proceeded, unabashed, "I throw myself upon your mercy."

"The devil you do?"

"I must, I'm in the deuce of a hole, and there's no one I know here besides yourself. I—I—"

Kirkwood saw it to lead him on, partly because out of the corner of his eye he was aware of the girl's unconcealed suspense. "Go on, please, Mr. Calendard. You throw yourself on a total stranger's mercy because you're in the deuce of a hole, and—"

ACCUSED OF PLOT; NEW GRAND JURY

GOVERNMENT ATTORNEYS IN LAND FRAUD INQUIRY DE-NOUNCED BY JURORS.

WICKERSHAM STOPS PROBE

Will Investigate Charges That United States Counsel is Making Unfair Efforts to Indict Gov. Haskell and Others of Oklahoma.

Tulsa, Okla., May 13.—Sensational allegations concerning the official conduct of Sylvester R. Wickersham, special assistant to the attorney general, and United States District Attorney Gregg of the Northern District of Oklahoma, are made in two petitions filed in the federal court in connection with the Muskogee town lot fraud cases.

One of the petitions is signed by nine members of the grand jury that was discharged on Saturday last by Judge Marshall upon motion of District Attorney Gregg, who asserted that the jury had been subjected to improper influences. This petition refutes this charge and, in turn, makes allegations against Messrs. Gregg and Wickersham.

It alleges misconduct before the jury, efforts to intimidate and coerce the jury to return indictments against Gov. Haskell and the other defendants regardless of and contrary to proof presented and petitions the court to investigate the jurors' allegations.

Improper Influence Denied.

The defendants also filed a response to the motion of District Attorney Gregg, denying the charges of improper influence. This response alleges that Gregg has used the Tulsa World, of which he is stated to be part owner, to mold sentiment and to prejudice the court and grand jury against the defendants; that he stated that he was after Haskell and associates and that no one else would be prosecuted; that he stated that he was a personal enemy of William T. Hatcher and would send him to the penitentiary at all hazards; that Gregg's partners in the Tulsa World had stated to a prominent Tulsa man that it was a political prosecution, started by William T. Hatcher and Theodore Roosevelt, against Haskell. The defendants assert that Gregg is an improper person to conduct the present prosecution.

Third Grand Jury Convened.

A new grand jury convened yesterday to investigate the alleged town lot frauds. The first to begin the investigation sat at Muskogee last winter and returned indictments against Gov. Charles N. Haskell and six others. The defendants filed a motion to quash alleging misconduct upon the part of Mr. Wickersham in the proceedings before the jury. Judge Marshall upheld the motion upon a technicality.

A second grand jury was called, and many witnesses had been examined, when on Saturday last, the government contended that this body had been subject to improper influences. Judge Marshall upheld the government's motion and discharged the jury immediately ordering another one.

This third grand jury convened today to again take up the work pushed by Mr. Wickersham and his assistants. The witnesses, coming from many states, and who testified before the first jury, were held here and a number of others summoned.

Among the witnesses were F. T. Moore and T. Murphy, Trenton, N. J., and Frederick Hunt and G. J. Bradford of Danversville, Ga.

Wickersham Stops Inquiry.

Washington, May 13.—After receiving a long telegram sent by Henry B. Asp, counsel for the defendants in the Oklahoma land fraud cases, to Senator Curtis of Kansas, and forwarded by the latter to the department of justice Attorney General Wickersham decided to suspend further proceedings in those cases, pending the receipt of testimony in support of charges alleging improper conduct on the part of the government attorneys.

The attorney general also decided that it would not be for the best interests of the government to substitute other counsel for those now conducting the cases.

In commenting upon the matter Mr. Wickersham stated that it was his firm conviction that the government attorneys were performing their duties faithfully and efficiently and that at this long range he certainly would not "interfere" with their efforts. He recognized that the government attorneys were conducting these cases under adverse circumstances, and no doubt were doing their full duty and doing it well, and should be sustained.

100 Years Hence

No More Drudgery—Just Live To Enjoy Yourself.

Elia Wheeler Wilcox believes in a hundred years of drudgery will be done by machinery. We will fly through the air on the wings of the wind and have time to see and enjoy all the wonders of the world and perhaps of the heavens which are now the eternal grind of every day life.

Look back 100 years and the changes made seem just as great. What we wear, how we travel, how we communicate, what we eat, sensible clothes, wireless telegraphs, telephones, fast trains and mail steamers, and healthful foods.

Today instead of loading our stomachs with heavy, greasy breakfasts, that dull the brain and retard our morning's work, we eat delicious Egg-O-Biscuits, made by the famous Egg-O-Biscuit process that insures perfect digestion, high nutrition and greater strength.

Always ready to serve, good for babies, best for invalids—the sensible breakfast for the business man or the busy, energetic housewife. Remember it's the Egg-O-Biscuit process that makes the flakes so crisp and delicious.
